Inspection Report Narrative

This site was inspected on August 25, 2006 between the hours of 11:09 in the morning and 12:03 in the afternoon. The inspection was conducted by Darlene K. Powell (author of report) and Sherri Ludlam, representing the Macon County Solid Waste Management Department, and Dustin Burger, representing the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency. Weather conditions at the time of the inspection were mostly cloudy, dry, with an air temperature in the eighties. Twenty-one photographs were taken. Two people were interviewed. The first person, whose name we did not get, was an employee with Dunn Paving Company and was interviewed on-site. The owner of the property, Mr. Phillip Pugsley, was interviewed by phone on August 28, 2006 and again on August 29, 2006. No samples were collected.

General Information/Site History

The site is located in central Macon County on the south side of West Center Street, in Decatur Township. Stevens Creek runs through the property. There are two entrances to the site, one on the east side of Stevens Creek and one on the west side of Stevens Creek. This inspection was conducted after receiving a complaint regarding open dumping on site.

Property Ownership

This property is owned by Phillip Pugsley. The name of the site is Pugsley Farms. The property is located between the 2700 and 3450 blocks of West Center Street. There are no homes on the property. A physical address is not assigned to this property. This information was obtained from the Macon County Supervisor of Assessment's Office and the Macon County Recorder's Office.

Inspection Findings

The initial destination was the west portion of the property. While driving west on West Center Street we noticed a truck dumping material on the east portion of the property. We turned around and pulled into the east portion of the property to speak to the man dumping the material at 11:09 in the morning. The worker was with Dunn Paving Company. The worker indicated he had permission to dump on the site. He dumped clean rock and asphalt. A gravel pile was located east of the entrance, and to the west of the entrance near the tree line was a pile of debris that contained dimensional lumber, concrete with rebar and landscape waste (photographs 1-5). The worker who dumped the rock and asphalt did not dump the other debris and was unaware of who put the other debris on the site.

We drove up the road and parked by the entrance to the west portion of the property. A wire rope, which was held in place by a pad lock, blocked the vehicle from entering the site. We observed an estimated 220 yds³ of landscape waste and other debris on site. Wood chips were spread over the ground to the east of the entrance (photograph 6). We entered the site and proceeded toward the south end of the property. To the west of the entrance were two piles of wood chips (photograph 7). A tub grinder was located on site (photograph 8). As we walked toward the south end of the property we noticed landscape waste sitting next to animal bedding (photographs 9 and 10). We observed metal, shingles, and litter mixed in with brick and gravel (photograph 11). Upon closer observation we noticed bricks with black tar as well as dimensional lumber (photograph 12). Further south, after crossing a small bridge, we observed railroad ties, fence posts, cyclone fencing, brick, dimensional lumber, plywood, and a plastic pipe in two piles that had weeds growing up around them (photographs 13 and 14). Across from the two piles we observed landscape waste that appeared to be from a vacuum truck sitting next to animal bedding (photograph 15).

Facing southeast it was possible to see wood chips spread over the field and two piles of debris on the south end of the property next to the tree line (photograph 16). The first pile contained dimensional lumber and concrete with rebar (photographs 17 and 18). The second pile contained what appeared to be the remains of a house that caught fire including dimensional lumber, scorched bricks, linoleum, metal conduit, plastic plumbing, wire, green carpet, and pillows (photographs 19 and 20). While walking back to the vehicle we noticed a piece of dimensional lumber sitting on top of the tub grinder. Upon observing the interior of the tub grinder we discovered shingles and plywood (photograph 21). We concluded the inspection and left the property at 12:03 in the afternoon.

Follow-up Interview

We tried to call Mr. Pugsley to discuss what we observed while on his property and left a message on his answering machine. Mr. Pugsley returned our call and left a message on Saturday August 26, 2006. I spoke with Mr. Pugsley on Monday August 28, 2006 and Tuesday August 29, 2006. Between our two conversations we discussed what had been observed during the inspection and what needed to be done in order to correct the situation.

Mr. Pugsley knew about the landscape waste and debris placed on his site. He has allowed other persons to dispose of materials on his site. Mr. Pugsley was fully aware that the debris on his property is his responsibility and was planning on getting the debris removed from his site as soon as possible. Some of the landscape waste on the east portion of the property came from the site itself. I advised Mr. Pugsley that he can cut down trees on his property and leave the material on site; however, landscape waste can not be used as fill. I advised Mr. Pugsley he can not store landscape waste from other persons on his property. Mr. Pugsley thought he would still be able to use landscape waste (i.e. wood chips) on his farm since he is growing alfalfa. I advised Mr. Pugsley that he can not use landscape waste on his site because he is a waste hauler.

Also anyone associated with Mr. Pugsley would not be able to use landscape waste that he has collected. The landscape waste needs to go to a licensed composting facility.

Mr. Pugsley was planning on using the railroad ties on site for landscaping around his home. I advised Mr. Pugsley materials for personal use need to be stored in a manner that preserves the value of the materials. Otherwise, the materials appear to be waste. Mr. Pugsley was also advised that as a transporter he is not allowed to store or treat waste on his site. I explained the tub grinder is used for treating waste, and it appeared as though he was also storing waste in the grinder. I advised Mr. Pugsley he would need to be sited and get a permit in order to conduct storage or treatment of waste. At the end of the conversation, Mr. Pugsley understood all of the debris needs to be removed from the site and taken to a licensed facility. Mr. Pugsley is going to work with the other persons who dumped debris and landscape waste on his site in order to get everything removed. Mr. Pugsley stated he would begin cleaning up the site on the evening of August 28, 2006. Starting the week of September 4, 2006 Mr. Pugsley will be working full time at Pugsley Container in order keep up with business. I thanked Mr. Pugsley for his time and advised I would be in touch at a later date.
