A PUBLICATION OF THE ILLINOIS POLLUTION CONTROL BOARD

IPCB LEGISLATION

On July 20, 1999, Governor Ryan signed SB 1105 into law as Public Act 91-214. This legislation, introduced for the Pollution Control Board, will increase the Board's ability to hire additional, highly qualified technical staff with the scientific expertise necessary to handle the Board's impending caseload over the next several years. Among other things, the Board will be required to promulgate rules to implement stricter Clean Air Act, Clean Water Act, and Safe Drinking Water Act requirements recently adopted by the federal government. Specifically, the bill exempts the Board's scientific technical positions from the State's Personnel Code so that the Board can pursue individuals who are highly skilled in the very specific fields required for the position.

BOARD UPDATE

Effective August 20, 1999, Kathleen M. Hennessey resigned from her position on the Board in order to accept a position as senior environmental attorney with DaimlerChrysler Corporation in Auburn Hills, Michigan. The Board thanks Board Member Hennessey for her years of dedicated service to the Board and to the citizens of the State of Illinois. She will be sorely missed. Everyone at the Board wishes Member Hennessey continued success in her challenging new legal position. Also, we wish her happiness as she moves closer to her family in Michigan.

RULEMAKING UPDATE

Board Adopts Amendments in In the Matter of: Permitting Procedures for the Lake Michigan Basin: 35 Ill. Adm. Code 301, 302, and 309.141, R99-8

On August 19, 1999, the Board adopted amendments to 35 Ill. Adm. Code 301, 302, and 309.141 regarding permitting procedures for the Lake Michigan Basin in accordance with the National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) program. The IEPA stated in its July 28, 1998 proposal that these amendments are necessary to implement the federal Great Lakes Initiative (GLI) which was previously adopted by the Board. See In the Matter of: Conforming Amendments for the Great Lakes Initiative: 35 Ill. Adm. Code 302.101, 302.105, 302.Subpart E, 303.443, and 304.222 (December 18, 1997), R97-25. The proposal was filed pursuant to Section 27 of the Environmental Protection Act (Act) (415 ILCS 5/27 (1998)).

FEDERAL ACTIONS CONTINUED

The amendments adopted by the USEPA consolidate the POTW application requirements, including information regarding toxic monitoring, whole effluent toxicity testing, industrial user and hazardous waste contributions, and sewer collection system overflows. The most significant revisions require toxic monitoring by major POTWs (and other pretreatment POTWs) and limited pollutant monitoring by minor POTWs.

The USEPA indicated that it has revised these regulations to ensure that permitting authorities obtain the information necessary to issue permits which protect the environment in the most efficient manner. The forms are designed to make it easier for permit applicants to provide the necessary information with their applications and minimize the need for additional follow-up requests from permitting authorities. The USEPA expects the rule to reduce current annual reporting and record keeping burdens by 21 percent, by standardizing the forms to match information requests with information needs.

United States Environmental Protection Agency Amends Standards for the Use or Disposal of Sewage Sludge

On August 4, 1999, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) amended existing regulations regarding land application, surface disposal, and incineration of sewage sludge. 64 Fed. Reg. 42551 (August 4, 1999). The amendments are intended to (1) clarify existing regulatory requirements regarding operational standards for pathogen and vector attraction reduction and provide flexibility to the permitting authority and the regulated community in complying with the minimum frequency of monitoring requirements; (2) make the incineration subpart of the regulation totally self-implementing by providing information on air dispersion modeling, incinerator testing methods, and continuous emission monitors to the sewage sludge incinerator owner or operator and; (3) modify the current general pretreatment regulation for existing and new sources of pollution by adding a concentration limit for total chromium in land-applied sewage sludge and adding total chromium to the list of pollutants that are eligible for a removal credit issued by a wastewater treatment works treating domestic sewage.

United States Environmental Protection Agency Reaches Settlement Agreement with JLM Chemicals, Inc., Plant Located at 3350 West 131st Street in Blue Island, Cook County, Illinois

On August 16, 1999, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) announced that it has reached a settlement agreement with JLM Chemicals, Inc. (JLM) on alleged violations of federal regulations regarding organic hazardous air pollutants at JLM's plant at 3350 West 131st Street, Blue Island, Cook County, Illinois. JLM produces two organic products: cumene and phenol. JLM has agreed to pay a $40,000 penalty. The agreement resolves an administrative complaint filed by the USEPA alleging JLM had improperly installed all the required volatile organic material control systems and did not notify the USEPA of its compliance status. The violations were discovered by the USEPA inspector in June 1997.

Cumene, at room temperature, is a colorless liquid that has a sharp, penetrating odor. Short-term effects include dizziness, skin and eye irritation, and skin rash. Noncarcinogenic long-term effects include drying and cracking skin and damage to lungs, liver, and kidneys. Phenol is a flammable, colorless or white solid, which is mainly sold and used as a liquid for making plastics, disinfectants, and medical products. It has an irritating, sweet, strong odor. Repeated exposure to low levels of phenol in drinking water has been linked to diarrhea and mouth sores in humans.

For more information about this settlement agreement, please contact Karl Karg at USEPA, Region V, Office of Regional Counsel, 312/886-7948.

United States Environmental Protection Agency Issues Draft Guidance Manual and Example of a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System Permit for Concentrated Animal Feeding Operations

On August 25, 1999, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) issued a draft guidance manual and example of a national pollutant discharge elimination system (NPDES) permit for concentrated animal feeding operations (CAFOs). 64 Fed. Reg. 46390 (August 25, 1999). The draft guidance was published to meet one of USEPA's key action items in the United States Department of Agriculture (USDA) and the USEPA Unified National Strategy for Animal Feeding Operations, (Unified National Strategy), released in March 1999. The draft guidance is intended to provide assistance to the USEPA and state permit writers, who are responsible for issuing NPDES permits to reduce risk to water quality and human health from CAFOs.

The Unified National Strategy set forth a range of flexible, common-sense actions that the USDA and the USEPA plan to take over a multi-year period to promote proper management of animal manure and wastewater in order to minimize the water quality and public health impacts of CAFOs. In the short-term, the USEPA states that it is focused on improving implementation of the NPDES permitting program consistent with existing regulations. Over the long-term, the USEPA states that it plans to revise its regulations to reflect substantial changes in the animal production industry.

A key objective of both the Unified National Strategy and the draft guidance is to accelerate issuance of sound, legally defensible NPDES permits for large CAFOs (e.g., operations with greater than 1,000 animal units) by January 2000. The USDA is in the process of developing a companion document that will provide guidance on how to develop sound comprehensive nutrient management plans, which the USEPA and the state permitting authorities will incorporate into NPDES permits as special conditions.

CONTINUED

The amendments update the citation to the Code of Federal Regulations at Section 301.105, adding specialized definitions that are contained in the IEPA's rule at Section 352.104, and adding implementation procedures under Section 309.141(h). The amendments to the incorporations by reference under Section 301.105(c) update the citation to 40 C.F.R. § 136 to reflect the 1996 edition of the federal rules, which contain approved test methods, and add a new incorporation by reference to a test procedure specified in 40 C.F.R. § 132. The definitions are, for the most part, derived from the federal GLI regulations at 40 C.F.R. § 132.2.

The adopted procedures for the implementation of the federal GLI are set forth at 35 Ill. Adm. Code 309.141(h). Section 309.141(h)(1) provides that the Total Maximum Daily Loads (TMDL) or the Waste Load Allocations (WLA) will be set either through the Lake Michigan Lakewide Management Plan or the remedial action plan for an area of concern. This provision is consistent with the federal GLI procedure concerning TMDL and WLA at 40 C.F.R. § 132.

Section 309.141(h)(2) specifies an acceptable additive risk level of one in 100,000 for establishing Tier I criteria and Tier II values for combinations of substances exhibiting carcinogenic or other nonthreshold toxic mechanisms. Section 309.141(h)(3) sets forth the conversion factors to be used in translating between water quality standards, criteria or values for metals expressed in either the dissolved form or as total amount recoverable.

Section 309.141(h)(4) together with 35 Ill. Adm. Code 352.Subpart D provide guidance to the IEPA in choosing which pollutants require water quality based effluent limits and, if required, at what level in NPDES permits. Subsection (h)(4)(A) specifically provides the first step in the process which involves the estimation of projected effluent quality (PEQ) of a parameter in the discharge of a facility, taking into account the chronic or acute exposure periods of the standard, criteria or value. If the PEQ for a parameter is greater than the water quality standard, criteria or value for that parameter, the next step involves the consideration of dilution and mixing in accordance with Section 309.141(h)(5), which allows for such consideration based on the degree of treatment.

Section 309.141(h)(6), the next step in the process, sets forth a simple mass balance formula for calculating a projected effluent limitation (PEL) giving consideration to the water quality standard, relative flowrates of effluent and receiving water, dilution allowance and the background concentration of the parameter. Section 309.141(h)(7) sets forth the conditions under which a water quality based effluent limits or certain monitoring requirements must be included in the NPDES permit based upon a comparison of PEQ and PEL.

Finally, the Board adopted amendments to 35 Ill. Adm. Code 302 to correct typographical errors in docket R97-25 identified by the Joint Committee on Administrative Rules (JCAR). The Board therefore proposed only nonsubstantive typographical amendments to Part 302.

Two hearings were held in this matter: the first, on October 5, 1998, in Chicago; and the second, on December 8, 1998, in Springfield. On December 17, 1998, the Board denied a motion to dismiss this docket filed by the Illinois Environmental Regulatory Group and supported by the Chemical Industry Council of Illinois. On March 4, 1999, the Board adopted the amendments for first-notice publication in the Illinois Register (see 22 Ill. Reg. 3563 (March 26, 1999)).

Board Dismisses Reserved Identical-In-Substance Rulemaking Dockets, R00-1, R00-2, R00-3, R00-4, and R00-6

On August 19, 1999, the Board dismissed as unnecessary five reserved identical-in-substance rulemaking dockets: In the Matter of: Exemptions from the Definition of VOM Update, USEPA Regulations (January 1, 1999, through June 30, 1999), R00-1; In the Matter of: SDWA Update, USEPA Regulations (January 1, 1999, through June 30, 1999), R00-2; In the Matter of: UIC Update, USEPA Regulations (January 1, 1999, through June 30, 1999), R00-3; In the Matter of: RCRA Subtitle D Update, USEPA Regulations (January 1, 1999, through June 30, 1999), R00-4; and In the Matter of: UST Update, USEPA Regulations (January 1, 1999, through June 30, 1999), R00-6.

In each program, the United States Environmental Protection Agency (USEPA) did not amend its rules during the update period from January 1, 1999 through June 30, 1999. Accordingly, no Board action was required so each reserved docket was dismissed. Section 7.2 of the Environmental Protection Act (Act) (415 ILCS 5/7.2 (1998)) requires the Board to adopt regulations which are identical in substance to regulations adopted by the USEPA. The term identical in substance is defined at Section 7.2 of the Act.

IPCB LEGISLATION CONTINUED

Public Act 91-214, supported by both environmental and business groups, was included as a recommendation by Governor Ryan's Environment and Natural Resources Transition Committee in January 1999, and reflects Pollution Control Board Chairman Claire Manning's commitment to strengthening the Board's technical expertise as the Board's workload becomes ever more complex into the next decade. Because the bill will not become effective until January 1, 2000, the Board will begin taking applications this fall and expects to fill the position by the beginning of the new year. Individuals interested in the position should contact either Anand Rao in the Board's Chicago Office or Karen Newbold in the Board's Springfield Office.
