Narrative

On May 5, 2004, DLPC/FOS-Peoria received two complaints concerning the deposition of demolition waste into trenches dug on a property near Rio owned by Earl and Norma Martin. According to the complainants, Mr. Martin operates a demolition business (Martin Landscaping) and the demolition debris was from homes in Galesburg. The City of Galesburg had hired Mr. Martin to demolish the homes. The complaints were assigned numbers C-2004-056-P and C-2004-057-P.

On May 7, 2004, I (Jeff Port) performed an inspection at the Martin property. The property is located on County Road 2500 North. The complainants stated that the dump area was not visible from the road, but was down a dirt lane to the south. I arrived at the site at 10:20 AM. I was accompanied by Dawn Ingold, DLPC/FOS-Peoria. The weather was overcast and warm, approximately 70 °F. It had rained the previous evening and standing water was present throughout the area. We located the dirt lane and observed tire tracks in the mud that appeared to be new. As we drove down the lane we observed a large area to the east along a tree line where soil had been recently disrupted. Piles of demolition debris were also present here. As we looked toward the south we could see some vehicles and some heavy equipment. We proceeded to this area. When we arrived at this area, we observed a dozer and a backhoe operating. We quickly exited our vehicle and approached the equipment. A large trench appeared to have been dug in the ground. Demolition debris was present in the trench. A large pile of soil was located directly south of the trench. It appeared that the two men operating the equipment were covering up the demolition debris with the soil from the pile. I was able to get the attention of one of the men. He turned off his engine and asked what I wanted. I asked the man if Mr. Martin was available. The man told us that Mr. Martin was not on site. I introduced myself, explained that we were investigating complaints of dumping and burying of waste from demolished homes in Galesburg. The man got off his dozer and waved to the other man. Both men then approached us. I asked the first man his name. He said that he was Rex Carlson an employee of Mr. Martin. The other man identified himself as John Gerk. I explained to the men that what they were doing was in violation of several sections of the Illinois Environmental Protection Act and the Regulations. Mr. Gerk said he would attempt to contact Mr. Martin by cell phone. As he did I began photographing the site. Photographs P1 through P4 show the trench containing the demolition debris. Photographs P7 through P11 were taken along the edge of a ravine to the southeast of the trench area. A variety of waste was present here including demolition debris, domestic waste, and landscape waste. The soils in this area appeared to have been disrupted recently. Photographs P12 through P19 and P36 show an area to the west of the ravine where soils also had been disrupted. It appeared that waste had been buried in this area as several pieces of demolition debris and domestic waste were sticking out of the surface of the soil. Photographs P20 through P22 show the trench and the soil pile to the south. When I returned to the trench, I was told that Mr. Martin was on vacation and was unable to be reached. Mr. Carlson and Mr. Gerk said that I could contact him on Monday. I asked them if they had any information concerning where the demolition debris had come from. Neither of the men were willing to give me any further information. I suggested that they both stop covering the waste material and that they leave the site. I told them that I needed to inspect the rest of the site.

We then proceeded with the inspection of the property. We walked to the southern portion of the property. Here we found several areas where waste had been dumped. Some of the waste had been placed into a creek running through the property. The waste included demolition debris, scrap metal, domestic waste, and landscape waste. Photographs P23 through P35 show the waste in these areas. Photographs P34 and P35 show waste dumped in the water.

We next proceeded back toward the north. Here we encountered several junk vehicles scattered throughout the property. Many of the vehicles had Martin Landscaping logos on their doors. Photograph P37 shows an old water heater. Photograph P38 shows a lead acid battery. Several waste tires were seen throughout the area. Photographs P39 through P47 shows some of the tires. Photograph P43 shows a tire that was holding water. Both inspectors observed mosquito larvae swimming in the water. Photograph P48 and P49 show empty underground storage tanks present on site. As we finished photographing this area of the property, we observed Mr. Carlson and Mr. Gerk sitting in a truck at the entrance to this area. We entered our vehicle and began to leave this area. Mr. Carlson and Mr. Gerk followed us.

We stopped at an area to the north of the previously investigated area. I wanted to examine the area that we observed upon entering the property. Photograph P50 shows a pile of demolition debris. I walked down the east side of the tree line proceeding toward the southeast. I observed several areas along the tree line where waste was poking up through the soil. It appeared that several loads of waste material had been dumped and buried in this area. Photographs P51 through P61 show this area. Both domestic waste and demolition debris could be seen intermingled with the soil. Photograph P60 shows an area where burned material had been dumped. After photographing this area we proceeded north on the dirt lane and left the property. Mr. Carlson and Mr. Gerk followed us as we left the site at approximately 11:30 AM.

Photograph locations are depicted on the accompanying site maps. Based upon these inspections, the following violations were observed and are indicated on the accompanying checklists.
