To who this may concern:

I will explain why i think i deserve a trial. I have owned this land for about five years, and i have a collection of items here that has taken me the whole five years to bring out here. I have a majority of this land already pick up in the time that you have assigned me. I believe that i deserve the right to a trial so that you can explain to me why i can't have the items that are out there. I truly think that it is unfair that you make me remove my collection of items. The reason i brought these items out here is because It is my hobby to work as a mechanic. I would also like to teach my son the skills that i have so he will also have that knowledge. The items that i have brought out there are items that i would like to keep for that reason.

Thank you for you time,

Ruben Valdez
