Narrative Inspection Report

Site #: 0474465016 – Edwards County

Name: M J Tire Service

Date of Inspection: January 30, 2013

Inspector: Garrison Gross

Subject: Tire Storage Inspection at M J Tire Service

General Remarks: A tire storage site inspection was conducted on Wednesday, January 30, 2013 at M J Tire Service. The business is located at 1324 North Court Street in Grayville. The inspection was conducted by Garrison Gross representing the Illinois EPA Bureau of Land. This inspection was routine in nature and conducted due to previous offsite observations of used / waste tires. Weather conditions at the time of the inspection were overcast skies, 53°F, with a moderate breeze. Surface conditions were damp to muddy.

Inspection Findings: The inspection began at approximately 8:45 A.M. I arrived at the site and observed two piles of used / waste tires stored near the service entrance (photo 001). A pickup truck load of tires was also observed. Approximately 100 passenger, truck and tractor tires were observed (photo 003 and 004). Most of the tires in this area were off the rim and some had accumulated water (photo 002, 005 and 006). I proceeded toward the office and spoke to Mark Johnson. I questioned Mr. Johnson about the tires being outside. He said he had fallen behind and was in the process of getting them put into storage. He told me that his tire transporter didn't show up for the last scheduled pickup.

I continued the inspection by walking and photographing the site. Mr. Johnson accompanied me during the inspection. I observed two storage bays where resalable used tires are stored. The storage bays are enclosed on three sides. One of the storage bays appeared to have a leaking roof (photo 007). Tires in the back of the storage area were wet. Several tires stored near the entrance had accumulated water and organic material (photo 008). Several large tractor tires were stored in front of the storage bays (photo 011). Water had accumulated in the tractor tires (photo 009). Mr. Johnson stated that the tractor tires had been used to construct a tire Christmas tree. I informed him that no tires should be stored outside. The second bay did not appear to be leaking (photo 010). A few tires stored near the entrance had accumulated water. Approximately 210 tires were stored in this area.

We walked to the box trailer where waste tires are stored. Tires were observed around the outside of the trailer (photo 012). Vegetation was directly adjacent to the tires and some of them had accumulated water and organic material (photo 013). The box trailer was close to being full (photo 014). Approximately 800 used / waste tires were stored in the box trailer. Additional tires were stored underneath the box trailer (photo 015).

We walked to another building that is used to store resalable used tires. Rainwater had blown into this building and some of the tires near the entrance were wet (photo 016). The south side of the roof was damaged and it appeared that rainwater had blown in through the opening. Water and organic material had accumulated in some of the tires stored under the damaged roof (photo 017). Approximately 120 tires were stored in the building.

I asked Mr. Johnson if he performed automotive services such as oil changes and what he did with his used oil. He showed me a mini-tote that was used to store the used oil (photo 018). Evidence of automotive fluid spillage was observed on the ground and pallets around the mini-tote. The container was not labeled. I asked Mr. Johnson about waste oil disposal. He told me that Lloyd Schoenheit, the property owner, took care of the oil disposal. Mr. Johnson told me that the mini-tote was used by both businesses. We returned to the office. A 55-gallon drum was located near the front of the office (photos 019 and 020). A bucket was sitting on top of the drum. The bucket contained automotive fluids. Evidence of automotive fluid spillage was observed on the ground around the drum. The drum was not labeled. I provided Mr. Johnson with two "used oil" labels.

A record review was conducted. I reviewed a sales receipt to verify the collection of the tire user fee for the Illinois Department of Revenue. The sales receipt showed the fee as a separate line item (photo 022). The recycle notice was posted in the office as required. Mr. Johnson informed me that he did not have any tire disposal receipts at the business. He said he was working on his taxes and had taken them home. I requested that he email or fax a copy of the last three disposal receipts. Approximately 1100 used / waste tires were observed at the facility. Based on the conditions that were observed, the facility is no longer storage-exempt and should be registered as a tire storage site. I informed him that the facility would be receiving a letter regarding the inspection in the near future. The inspection ended at approximately 9:10 A.M.

Additional Remarks: Three tire disposal receipts were received by facsimile on January 31, 2013.
