 Opinión I think Governor Blagojevich all the coal power plants in Illinois to reduce mercury levels by 99% rather than 90%. Reducing power plants mercury pollution levels by 90% will not allow 100% of mercury pollution to be eliminated. Allowing mercury in the water turns it into methylmercury which is more toxic than mercury. Fish will accumulate it in their bodies. Giving new born children who mother has consumed for a greater chance of birth defects.

I think it should be past because it would affect all the people that live at Little Village and they should change it to 99% instead of 90%. People that eat fish could get sick or the people that live in Little Village they are going to get diseases. We all wanted to have clean air not with pollution. Mercury could affect your lungs and I think also birth affects.

charge of the pollution issue. Plus it's only going to take care of 90% of pollution.

Opinión I think that this law would get us one step closer into getting rid of Hg. The Hg that comes out of the coal power plants, falls in to water. Then the mercury inside the water would infect bacteria which worms and insect eat. What would eat worms and insects, fishes that live in the water do. Then a bigger fish would eat that fish and so on. Eventually a fisher would go fishing and eat the big fish that has mercury. That big fish had to eat alot more little fishes so it can have its minerals and that little fish has to eat alot also, and so do the other consumers too. Therefore all the Hg that has been passed down would go to the fisherman, and he/she can infect other people and they can affect pregnant mother which would get their babies affect with it and cause brain damage. Hg cause brain damage to anyone, it depends on how much you consume.

Opinión I think the mercury rule is a very good idea, so that we can have cleaner water and so people can go fish and not worry about the mercury in the water. This rule would help because it would mean cleaner water because all that mercury that comes out from the plant goes to the water and then the insects get affected and then the fish eat the insects and take all the mercury they had then other fish eat the fish and then we eat the fish and take in all the mercury from all the things that fish ate and where it came from.

 Opinión I really think the Mercury Rule is a good idea because it would make the community better. The mercury rule would help reduce mercury emissions that are very harmful to pregnant women and children. Coal Power plants produce large amounts of mercury which really affects our rivers and animals living in them. Reducing mercury would mean reducing the bacteria in rivers and nearby water sources. Mercury is a very dangerous chemical that produces neurotoxin. With the mercury rule we can prevent this dangerous toxin from reaching young children in our community.

 Opinión I just think that they should get rid of the mercury Rule is good and will get rid of mostly all of the mercury. Soon the water won't be harmful to people. Cause when people eat fish mercury goes into the water and fish eats the mercury soon the people eat it.
Then the people will get sick and worst then that so they should reduce the level of mercury. Cause then this mercury thing is so dangerous it can also make brain go mad up like brain poison.
Soon the people are dying cause people are eating fish that has mercury so to this won't happen just reduce the levels of mercury by 90% or even more.

 Opinión I think mercury is the worstest pollutant of all because mercury has effect many people. I'm all the way on when I go to school on 3rd and Kostner. So many peoples lives over their and mostly mothers with babies. That can cause brain damage and food poisoning because when they want food most people like fish. When they burn coal the mercury gets out and polluts our lakes, rivers and the things inside them such as fish insects everything even water.
