Dear Hearing Officer Therriault,

I oppose Dynege's request for a variance from Illinois air quality standards. Dynege has the financial wherewithal to purchase the plants and is doing so voluntarily, but still argues that the company would suffer an undue financial hardship if it was forced to comply with the law. The State should hold Dynege to its legal and corporate environmental responsibility to clean up any of the coal plants it purchases from Ameren.

Sincerely,

Ms. Sharon Johnson

The State should hold Dynegy to its legal and corporate environmental responsibility to clean up any of the coal plants it purchases from Ameren. Otherwise, it should simply not let this transaction happen. Doing so would set a terrible precedent going forward of allowing companies to create under capitalized shells to hold all of their power plant assets. Such a ploy is transparent, and should be stopped.

Hearing Officer John Therriault

Dear Hearing Officer Therriault,

As a physician specializing in diseases of the lungs, as a former member and chair of our state's Air Quality Board and as a medical school professor and researcher I am very knowledgeable about the health effects of air pollution. Allowing industries to pollute the environment is not only bad for people's health but also for the economic health of the region as health care costs rise and clean desirable businesses and industry have trouble attracting talent to their firms.

Thus, I oppose Dynegy's request for a variance from Illinois air quality standards. Dynegy has the financial wherewithal to purchase the plants and is doing so voluntarily, but still argues that the company would suffer an undue financial hardship if it was forced to comply with the law. The State should hold Dynegy to its legal and corporate environmental responsibility to clean up any of the coal plants it purchases from Ameren.

Dear Hearing Officer Therriault,

I oppose Dynege's request for a variance from Illinois air quality standards. Dynege maintains enough profits to voluntarily purchase coal plants,, but argues that the company would suffer an undue financial hardship if it complied with existing and acknowledged law.

How long do we, as an entire society, give away our health, etc. and agreed-upon standards to the arrogance of corporations with huge profits and lobbying capability or inside-tracking? Why is looking at historical discussions, obvious errors in judgement, and consequences for all of us not utilized? Look at history. We have been looking at all the same issues since the 1960s, and we are STILL in a spinning conundrum. Humans supposedly have the ability to solve complex problems. Why are we still debating the same, real issues for over 50 years.

Illinois should enforce Dynege's legal and corporate environmental responsibility to clean and implement current technology in all coal plants it owns/operates, not just particularly those plants it voluntarily purchases from Ameren.

Thank you for your thorough, serious, ethical, and responsible due diligence and consideration.

Subject: Please deny Dynege's request for a pollution variance (2014-010)

Sep 19, 2013

Hearing Officer John Therriault

Dear Hearing Officer Therriault,

Much harm, asthma, and other health problems will come if Dynege's request for a variance from Illinois air quality standards. Dynege has the financial wherewithal to purchase the plants and is doing so voluntarily, but still argues that the company would suffer an undue financial hardship if it was forced to comply with the law. The State should hold Dynege to its legal and corporate environmental responsibility to clean up any of the coal plants it purchases from Ameren.

Sincerely,

Mr. Andrew Fisher
