MEMORANDUM IN OPPOSITION TO APPLICANT'S MOTION TO DISMISS PETITION FOR REVIEW

Citizens Against Landfill Expansion, an unincorporated association of residents of Livingston County (hereinafter "CALE"), hereby opposes the Motion to Dismiss filed by American Disposal Services of Illinois, Inc. ("Applicant") on July 3, 2003. Applicant attempts to avoid review of the siting of a 160-acre, 50-million-cubic-yard expansion of the Livingston Landfill located in Pontiac, Livingston County, Illinois on grounds that CALE did not participate in the local siting hearing. The Motion to Dismiss should be denied with prejudice for the reasons set forth below and reasonable fees and expenses awarded to Petitioner. In the alternative, Petitioner requests leave to amend the Petition to Review to name individual members of CALE as additional Petitioners, as set forth in Petitioner's Motion for Leave to Amend being filed at the same time as this Memorandum.

I. CALE fully participated in the local siting hearings.

CALE is an unincorporated, voluntary association of residents of Livingston County who oppose expansion of the Livingston Landfill. As such, it has no separate legal identity as a corporation would have. Rather, it can act only through its individual members or agents. CALE actively participated in the siting hearings held March 10-14, 2003, regarding the proposed expansion.

The statute concerning appeal does not require a formal "appearance" by a citizens' group. It states only that "a third party... who participated in the hearing conducted by the county board... may... petition the Board for a hearing to contest the approval of the county board.” 415 ILCS 120/40.1(b). As an unincorporated, voluntary association of citizens, CALE participated in all aspects of the siting process through its members and counsel.

A. CALE participated in the siting hearings directly through individual members.

Many members of CALE actively and directly participated in the hearings. For example, Mrs. Doris Burnside of rural Pontiac is a member of CALE. See Affidavit of Doris Burnside, Exhibit A. Mrs. Burnside sat at the objectors’ table with counsel for CALE throughout the five days and two evenings of testimony. Id. She also made a public comment and submitted documents that became part of the record. See Transcript, Pages 665-670.

Mrs. Julie Russow of Cornell is also a member of CALE. See Affidavit of Julie Russow, attached hereto as Exhibit B. Mrs. Russow made a public comment and submitted written comment after the hearing. See Affidavit of Julie Russow, Exhibit B. Mrs. Russow attended virtually all the afternoon and evening sessions of the hearings. See id. As Applicant states in its Motion to Dismiss, Mrs. Russow made direct reference to CALE during her public comments. Motion to Dismiss, para. 5 (referring to Transcript, Page 641.)

Other members of CALE that participated directly in the hearings include: Mrs. Phyllis Ryan of Pontiac, who made a public comment (see Transcript, Pages 660-64 & statement of Phyllis Ryan, attached hereto as Exhibit C) and Ms. Barb Christensen of Dwight, who made a public comment (see Transcript Pages 1397-1410 & statement of Barb Christensen, attached hereto as Exhibit D). Several others made comments, oral or written, as well. If the Pollution Control Board (“PCB”) deems it necessary for CALE to submit affidavits from additional participants, CALE will be happy to do so upon request.

Members of CALE who did not personally attend the hearings were represented by Mrs. Burnside, Mrs. Russow, Ms. Christensen and Ms. Gerwin. See Statements of over 90 individuals, attached as Attachment 2 to the Affidavit of Doris Burnside, Exhibit A, in which each individual affirms that they are a member of CALE and that they were represented at the hearing by these individuals. Thus, through its members, CALE participated in all aspects of the siting process.

B. CALE also participated in the siting hearings through counsel.

CALE further participated in the siting hearings through counsel. The siting ordinance does not indicate that an unincorporated, voluntary association of citizens must file a formal “entry of appearance.” It requires only that “members of the public who desire to be participants in the hearing must submit written notification ... to the County Clerk ten days before the first day of the public hearing.” Livingston County Siting Ordinance, para. 11, attached hereto as Exhibit E. As Applicant noted in its Motion, Ms.

Gerwin provided notice of her intent to participate, Motion to Dismiss, para. 3, and other members of CALE signed up individually.

Ms. Gerwin participated extensively in the hearings, attending every session and cross-examining all Applicant's witnesses. See Transcript, passim. On behalf of CALE, Ms. Gerwin also presented witnesses, including hydrogeologist Professor Sondra Sixberry of Olivet Nazarene University, who was compensated by CALE and testified on its behalf. See Transcript, Page 1289, a printout of which is attached as Exhibit F.

Applicant claims, however, that it should be permitted to avoid review of the siting decision on grounds that counsel for CALE used the terms "several private citizens" and "other objectors" to refer to an unincorporated, voluntary association of private citizens. See Motion to Dismiss, para. 4. Neither Applicant, nor the Livingston County Board, nor the Hearing Officer objected to Ms. Gerwin's statements, nor did they request any further identification of such other objectors or the citizens group.

In its argument, Applicant failed to mention that during the hearing itself, in discussing Professor Sondra Sixberry's qualification to testify, Ms. Gerwin clearly stated, "[s]he's providing services not to the governmental body but to our citizens group." Transcript, Page 1289 (emphasis added), Exhibit F. Thus, an expert witness clearly identified as representing the citizens group testified at the siting hearing. Again, none of the participants protested, questioned the reference to the citizens group, or asked for further identification of the group.

In point of fact, no such further identification would have been necessary. Ms. Gerwin, Mrs. Burnside, and Mrs. Russow were well known by Applicant to be leaders of CALE. By that time, CALE had been actively opposing the expansion for many months. When Applicant began the process of applying for the proposed expansion in spring of 2002, members of CALE collected hundreds of signatures of concerned citizens who opposed expansion. See Petitions to Oppose, Affidavit of Doris Burnside, Exhibit A. (Applicant withdrew its first application on October 8, 2002, because it failed to give proper notice as required under the statute.) The petitions variously refer to the group both by "Livingston County Conservation Committee," and by "Citizens Against Landfill Expansion." The name was changed early on to prevent confusion with any governmental agency, but it was the same group, using the same post office box, that quickly became known as CALE. Ms. Gerwin presented copies of the petitions at meetings of the Livingston County Board. See Affidavit of Doris Burnside, Exhibit A. Newspaper reports referred to CALE and identified Ms. Gerwin and Mrs. Russow by name. See Affidavit of Julie Russow, Exhibit B. Furthermore, members of CALE, including Ms. Gerwin and Mrs. Burnside, met with landfill representatives at the landfill's offices on two separate occasions prior to the hearings. See Affidavit of Doris Burnside, Exhibit A; see also Testimony of John McDonnell (for Applicant), Transcript, p. 70, printout attached hereto as Exhibit F (referring to one such meeting). In short, CALE's existence and leadership were well known to all parties before, during and after the hearings.

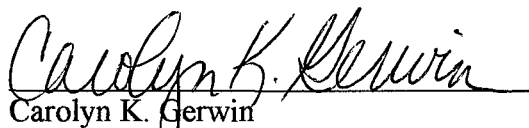

II. CALE is entitled to petition the Board for review of the siting decision and to claim exemption from the fee for certification of the record.

Applicant knew about CALE and was familiar with its leadership. Counsel for CALE indicated that she was representing other objectors. The hydrogeologist who testified in opposition to the expansion was identified as testifying for the citizens group. Applicant never objected to counsel's statement that she represented "other objectors" or questioned the reference to "our citizens group" during the hearings. Furthermore, Applicant does not claim that it was in any way prejudiced as a result of the manner of participation of CALE during the siting hearings. Applicant's claim that CALE did not participate in the hearings simply has no basis in fact. Thus, Applicant's attack on CALE's standing to appeal must fail.

Members of CALE petitioned for review as a citizens' group in order to claim the exemption allowed to such groups under Section 39.2(n) of the siting statute, which relates to payment of fees for certifying the record on appeal. 415 ILCS 5/39.2(n). Given the fact that the hearings lasted a week and involved extensive exhibits, Petitioner anticipated that such fees would be very high. Without the exemption, the cost of the appeal would have been prohibitive. The legislature clearly anticipated that an unincorporated, voluntary association would qualify for the exemption from the fees. The statute does not specify how a party that exists in the form of an unincorporated citizens' group must participate, only that it do so. CALE clearly did so in a manner consistent with its status as an informal association of concerned citizens. Thus, CALE has earned the right to petition for review by the Board and to claim exemption from the fee for certification of the record.

For the foregoing reasons, CALE respectfully requests that the PCB reject Applicant's attempt to avoid review, deny the Motion to Dismiss, grant Petitioner its reasonable fees and expenses incurred in opposing the Motion to Dismiss, and for such further relief as the Board may deem appropriate.

Respectfully submitted,

Carolyn K. Gerwin

Group meets to discuss opposition to landfill expansion

By Sheila Shelton
Staff Reporter

Citizens Against Landfill Expansion (CALE) held a meeting at the Pontiac City Hall on Tuesday night to discuss their plans for preventing the proposed expansion of the Pontiac landfill near Rowe.

The Livingston County board has set Sept. 23 for the beginning of hearings on the proposed expansion.

Carolyn Gerwin of Pontiac, who is a spokesperson for CALE, spoke at length at Tuesday's meeting.

She said most of the 65 persons attending the meeting were there because most of them oppose the landfill as an "instinctual thing."

"We have gathered some info to put meat on the bones of this issue and we are here tonight to present this information," she said.

"There are currently over 500 acres involved in the landfill and, if the expansion is approved, this will increase it to over 700 acres in size. It is now the fourth largest landfill in the United States and we will probably someday be the largest landfill in the United States if this is not stopped now," said Gerwin.

She said the new expansion would put the landfill site at 60 vertical feet.

"The proposed Kankakee County landfill would be 300 feet in height," she said.

"So many people affected by this landfill have not been heard from by our local government. There are 600 semis, six days a week, that use this facility. These trucks get untarped and go under a video camera that checks their loads. This county does not check to see what goes into this landfill," said Gerwin.

"Our host county fee (agreement) could be retired but that is really a whole other issue. More landfill here means more risk," she said.

Full allied support is welcome, no necessary

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Bush administration is casting Iraqi President Saddam Hussein as a menace who cannot be appeased and suggesting that it may not wait for full allied support before launching an attack.

"It's less important to have unanimity than it is making the right decision and doing the right thing, even though at the outset it may seem lonesome," Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld said Tuesday.

After President Bush met at his ranch in Crawford, Texas, with Saudi Arabia's Prince Bandar bin Sultan, White House spokesman Ari Fleischer said Bush told the Saudi ambassador he had not yet decided whether to attack.

"The president made very clear again that he believes that Saddam Hussein is a menace to world peace, a menace to regional peace," Fleischer said. The Saudis strongly oppose U.S. military action.

In a lively exchange with Marines at Camp Pendleton, Calif., Rumsfeld predicted that most U.S. friends and allies would support American U.S. military action against Iraq if that is what Bush decides is required to deal with the threat of being attacked with weapons of mass destruction. So far no allies have voiced firm support. Many have raised great doubts or outright opposition.

"Leadership in the right direction finds followers and supporters," Rumsfeld told members of the 1st Marine Division, who peppered the defense secretary with numerous questions about war against Iraq.

When a Marine asked whether Rumsfeld thought victory in Iraq would take long to achieve, he refused to answer directly. "The frenzy on the subject, it seems to me, is a bit full," he said.

On a day when Bush administration officials told friends and allies around the world that rushing to war against key Arab allies — Egypt, Saudi Arabia — voice objections to U.S. military action against Iraq. In a more automatic offensive, Iraq's officials to China and Russia pressed its case.

Bush has not decided yet to remove the Saddam regime, "and therefore there are no war drums to beat," Department spokesman Richard Boucher told reporters Tuesday.

In Iraq, U.S. fighters attacked an air defense command facility Tuesday night in a southern city of Nukhay. U.S. military radar site near the northern city of Mosul. In cases, U.S. officials said U.S. planes were responding to Iraqi provocations while patrolling flight-interdiction zones in effect since the Gulf War.

In his remarks at Camp Pendleton, Rumsfeld said more than once that Bush had to make a decision. He said American allies need to think about the 21st century's threats, especially the dictatorial behavior of terrorists and the session of weapons of mass destruction.

"We do need to take time and think these things through and consider them," he said.

Egyptian President Mubarak, a major U.S. ally, said Tuesday.

Chicago comic canceled because of nationality

CHICAGO (AP) — A Chicago comedian scheduled to open for comic Jackie Mason was told hours before the show he couldn't perform because he is of Palestinian descent, Mason's manager said.

Ray Hanania, a 49-year-old fledgling comic, was supposed to open for Mason's Tuesday night show at Zanie's comedy club in Chicago. Instead, the club phoned him a few hours before to tell him his act was canceled.

"It's not exactly like he's just an Arab-American. This guy's a Palestinian. We were not told about it ahead of time," said Jyll Rosenfeld, Mason's manager. "Jackie does not feel comfortable having a Palestinian open for him. Right now it's a very sensitive thing, it's just not a good idea."

Mason, who has appeared on Broadway and in films such as "Caddyshack II" and "The Jerk," has been an outspoken member of the Jewish community. He supports Israel and has received at least one award from the Israeli government.

"Nothing personal against this fellow," Rosenfeld said. "Jackie doesn't even know him."

But members of Chicago's Arab-American community did take it personally.

As the one-year anniversary of the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks approaches, Americans should be doing more to unite, said Ali Alarabi, president of the United Arab American League.

"I'm outraged," Alarabi said. "It is an act of hate and racism against Palestinians, and we demand an apology."

Rosenfeld cited recent Israeli-Palestinian violence and delayed peace talks in explaining Mason's decision.

"Don't turn this into a racist issue, because it's not," Rosenfeld said. "We just felt this is not a good idea at this time."

Hanania said he has been a comedian for less than a year and has about 20 performances under his belt. He started performing after Sept. 11 in an effort to try to lighten the situation and bring people together, he said.

Zanie's General Manager Linda Moses said Hanania's inexperience contributed to the cancellation. She said Hanania was replaced by a comic who has opened for Mason in the past.

CALE

She said she had learned from EPA information submitted to the federal register that all landfill liners will eventually fail.

"It is kind of murky what happens 25 years after a landfill is closed. The city of Pontiac's water reservoir is close by and the Vermilion River is nearby," said Gerwin.

She said this landfill started as 18 acres, which was and is not lined, and with the expansion, will be 40 times as large.

"We need an end plan for this landfill. It will never be easier to stop than now. We are not making that much money at $1.50 a ton for debris. Every time the landfill wants an expansion the county board members say to the landfill 'OK, we will take one more bite,'" said Gerwin.

"If the landfill is our signature development — how will we ever get anything else in this community. Non-waste-based developments attract more growth. People coming down I-55 see the landfill first and it injures our community image," said Gerwin.

She said that Pontiac could really see big growth.

"Look at Bloomington. We could have that — or are we going to continue building a wasteland? It is time to stop now," she said.

Julie Russow of CALE told those in attendance that a large group of CALE supporters are needed to participate in Sunday's Threshermen's Parade.

Gerwin added that she hopes to also see a lot of young people participating in the parade because CALE is working for their future.

"We also need to hand out sheets to parade viewers listing what board members voted in what way on the Solid Waste Plan Amendment (regarding the landfill in June). There were 11 members plus one abstainer who tried to stop this proposed expansion by voting against the amendment," said Gerwin.

She also asked people to fill out registration forms so that they may be put on the agenda to testify at the Sept. 23 hearing.

She advised those in attendance to have their homes' wells tested if they have any concerns. She advised that the Livingston County Health Department should be contacted to determine how this well testing should be done.

She also asked people to take pictures of any flooding in the area to the hearings so that they might be presented as evidence.

Gerwin outlined the criteria to be covered at the hearing.

The criteria are as follows:

- The waste needs of the area to be served.

- That the public health, safety and welfare of the area is protected.

- Traffic patterns in area.

- Minimization of incompatibility with the surrounding area.

- The flood plain and any flooding in the area.

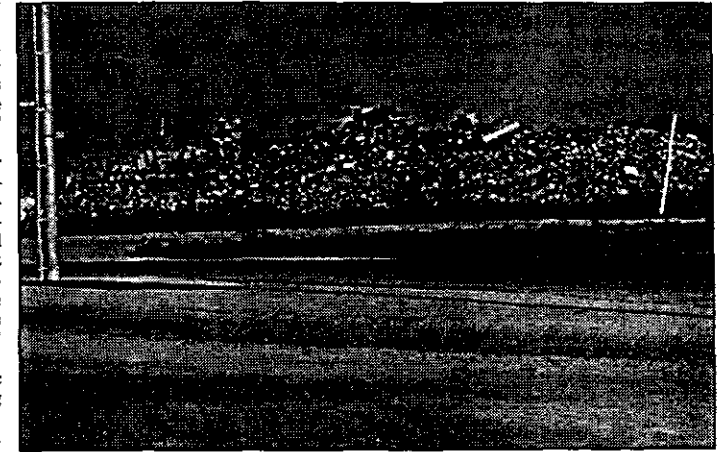

- Safety plan.

- Hazardous waste — Gerwin said this is not applicable.

- The solid waste disposal plan which Gerwin classified as "the county's golden plan."

- A regulated re-charge area — Gerwin said she didn't know what this term meant.

- Past record of convictions.

MOTION FOR LEAVE TO AMEND PETITION FOR REVIEW

Citizens Against Landfill Expansion, an unincorporated association of residents of Livingston County (hereinafter "CALE"), has petitioned for review of local siting of a 50 million cubic yard expansion of the Livingston Landfill in Pontiac, Illinois. In the event the Illinois Pollution Control Board (hereinafter, the "Board") is disposed to grant American Disposal Services of Illinois, Inc.'s ("Applicant's") Motion to Dismiss, pursuant to which Applicant claims CALE did not participate in the siting hearing, and if individual citizens may claim exemption from the fee for certification of the record below pursuant to Section 39.2(n), CALE hereby requests leave to amend its Petition to name individual members of CALE as additional Petitioners. Specifically, Petitioner requests leave to amend the Petition to include Doris Burnside of rural Pontiac, Illinois; Julie Russow of Cornell, Illinois, and Barbara Christensen of Dwight, Illinois, as additional Petitioners (hereinafter collectively referred to as "CALE Representatives"). As detailed in Petitioner's Memorandum in Opposition to Applicant's Motion to Dismiss, which is being filed simultaneously, said CALE representatives participated in the local siting hearing held pursuant to Section 39.2. Such amendment would defeat Applicant's attempt to avoid substantive review of the siting decision on arguments related to standing. Such joinder of parties is expressly permitted under the Board's regulations, which provide:

The Board will not dismiss an adjudicatory proceeding for nonjoinder of persons who must be added to allow the Board to decide an action on the merits without first providing a reasonable opportunity to add the persons as parties. As justice may require, the Board may add new parties . . . at any stage of an adjudicatory proceeding.

To Whom it may concern,

I am part of a local group of Livingston County residents called Citizens Against the Landfill Expansion. We were represented by Carolyn Gerwin, Doris Burnside, Julie Russow, Barb Christensen and others at the siting hearing for the Livingston Landfill held Mar. 10th thru the 14th . 2003.

MOTION FOR LEAVE TO AMEND PETITION FOR REVIEW

Citizens Against Landfill Expansion, an unincorporated association of residents of Livingston County (hereinafter "CALE"), has petitioned for review of local siting of a 50 million cubic yard expansion of the Livingston Landfill in Pontiac, Illinois. In the event the Illinois Pollution Control Board (hereinafter, the "Board") is disposed to grant American Disposal Services of Illinois, Inc.'s ("Applicant's") Motion to Dismiss, pursuant to which Applicant claims CALE did not participate in the siting hearing, and if individual citizens may claim exemption from the fee for certification of the record below pursuant to Section 39.2(n), CALE hereby requests leave to amend its Petition to name individual members of CALE as additional Petitioners. Specifically, Petitioner requests leave to amend the Petition to include Doris Burnside of rural Pontiac, Illinois; Julie Russow of Cornell, Illinois, and Barbara Christensen of Dwight, Illinois, as additional Petitioners (hereinafter collectively referred to as "CALE Representatives"). As detailed in Petitioner's Memorandum in Opposition to Applicant's Motion to Dismiss, which is being filed simultaneously, said CALE representatives participated in the local siting hearing held pursuant to Section 39.2. Such amendment would defeat Applicant's attempt to avoid substantive review of the siting decision on arguments related to standing. Such joinder of parties is expressly permitted under the Board's regulations, which provide:

The Board will not dismiss an adjudicatory proceeding for nonjoinder of persons who must be added to allow the Board to decide an action on the merits without first providing a reasonable opportunity to add the persons as parties. As justice may require, the Board may add new parties . . . at any stage of an adjudicatory proceeding.

35 IAC Sec. 101.403 (b). This is an adjudicatory proceeding as defined in 35 IAC 101.202. Thus, if the Board finds that, despite extensive participation in the local siting process by CALE through its members and counsel, CALE does not have standing to maintain an appeal thereof, leave to so amend the Petition to add the aforementioned individuals as Petitioners should be granted.

Re: CALE v. American Disposal Services, No. PCB 03-236

Gentlemen:

I regret that it appears necessary that I formally request that you advise and instruct your clients, their employees and agents not to destroy, intentionally misplace or remove any documents pertinent to this matter, including but not limited to official or unofficial sign-out sheets for review of the application and public comments, any personal or official correspondence or notes of any person (including emails and handwritten notes), photographs, phone call logs or phone messages, and any and all other potentially discoverable documents, papers, recordings, materials or information that may relate to any aspect of this matter, directly or indirectly, including but not limited to the siting application, the hearings, any meetings or correspondence between or among American Disposal and the county's review team, the county's budget, etc. If your clients are not aware that such destruction or removal of documents would raise issues of obstruction of justice, for which there are potentially serious penalties, please advise them accordingly.

Thank you.

Yours truly,

Carolyn K. Gerwin
Counsel for Petitioner
