Thank you for the opportunity to comment on the proposed clean vehicle standards.

In response to the comments from the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, I would say that their objections to the standards are all minor hurdles that can and should be overcome. IEPA is worried about effects on other agencies and market forces under the Trump administration. I wish their comments had discussed protecting the environment. The clean vehicle standards will help to protect the environment from CO₂ emissions and will also have many health benefits. I urge adopting these standards.

Thank you for your attention,
