Concurring opinion of Mr. Aldrich

I agree with the opinion of the Board (by Mr. Lawton) and the order granting the variance.

I feel that the statement about "hardship inflicted" in being limited to the hardship on the petitioner is too narrow in scope. My dissenting opinion in Wagnon v. EPA, PCB 71-85 stated:

"The economic hardship has been limited to the petitioner whereas it is in fact shared by those whose real estate loses value, the carpenters, masons, plumbers, electricians, heating experts, architects, and lending agencies who would have been involved in building the homes and apartments as well as the lumbermen who would have cut the trees, the steel workers and others who would have fabricated materials and transportation workers who would have moved the needed supplies."

I, Regina E. Ryan, Clerk of the Board, certify that Mr. Samuel R. Aldrich submitted the above Concurring Opinion on the 13th day of August, 1971.
