ORIGINAL

AC15-19

This case is depicted as if I had hauled in material and created a dump on the property. Nothing could be further from the truth. I dismantled and salvaged as many materials as possible from an old house that was long past its useful life.

During the dismantling and clean-up process my 16 year old bobcat broke down. This required several trips to the shop and cost me $4,500 in repairs. Since I operate on a very limited budget, these expenses were devastating. When I had made enough money through other projects to cover the repairs I returned to the site and finished the clean-up. The work was completed two days after Mr. Zappa's visit.

Therefore this violation was not a result of deliberate action on my part but of unforeseen and uncontrollable circumstances.
